

NEW EXHIBITION AND RECEPTION

without repair and Don't Forget to Call | Reception: Wednesday, May 23, 6:30-8pm

Please join us for the opening reception of Union Gallery's exhibitions, without repair, curated by robin alex mcdonald (Main Space) and Don't Forget to Call by Nelly Matorina (Project Room). Light refreshments will be served. Image: Tammy Rae Carland, Imperfect Lovers, Digital C-Print, 2008.

Union Gallery Vitrine Project: Self(ish) | Curated by Leyla Chisamore

In conjunction with the summer exhibitions, The Union Gallery summer student intern, Leyla Chisamore, presents a new vitrine project. Self(ish) examines the situation of self and processes of developing an embodied knowledge, mediated through external relationships. Divided into two processes – genealogy and partnership – Self(ish) traces familial connection, intimacy, and relationships through paralleling arcs of degradation and personal growth.

CALL FOR SUBMISSIONS

Call for Poetry Submissions | every time I see your face it reminds me of you: a night of really bad love poetry | Deadline: June 1, 2018

Held in conjunction with the exhibition without repair, this poetry reading event invites you to wear your heart on your sleeve by performing your cheesiest and most desperate poems and love letters in public. Those interested in performing are asked to email ugallery@queensu.ca with the subject heading "every time I see your face" by June 1. Poems/letters may only be performed by their original authors, and all names must be removed or changed to "Milhouse Van Houten."

every time I see your face it reminds me of you: a night of really bad love poetry
July 11, 2018, 6:30-8pm | Location: Union Gallery

Join the Union Gallery and without repair curator robin mcdonald for an evening of cheesy and desperate love poems and letters.

GALLERY NEWS

2018 Summer Student Intern: Welcome Leyla to the Union Gallery team!

Leyla Chisamore is an interdisciplinary academic and the 2018 summer student gallery assistant at the Union Gallery. Her areas of interest include gender, sexual, and witchcraft histories in the medieval/early modern periods, as well as contemporary feminist art and art historical practice. Chisamore sits as the President of the Board of Directors at Modern Fuel Artist-Run Centre and works in Reception at the Agnes Etherington Arts Centre at Queen's University. She is currently a BA (Honours) candidate at Queen's University (History & Art History), with an ongoing certificate program in Gender and Sexual Diversity.

Summer Gallery Hours + Tours

The Union Gallery will be open for its regular hours all summer long until August 4th. We are also offering a limited number of short tours of the shows over the summer. Please contact ugallery@queensu.ca to check for availability. Tours will be scheduled Tuesday-Fridays between 11 am and 4pm from May 29-August 3. Note that the gallery will be closed from August 12 to September 3, reopening on September 4.

Call for Spring/Summer Volunteers

Want to spend your spring/summer volunteering with us? Go to uniongallery.queensu.ca and download an application today! Commitment is 2 hours/week. Applications can be sent to ugallery@queensu.ca

